

HARBOR COURT HOTEL

Everything evolves.
Even documents.

H24

Lazy, rainy November day: decided to go visit SF.

Encountered a march in support of Iranian women on my walk along The Embarcadero.

Met up w/ Leif, Lewis and grandkids Jules & Pasqual, and Ema - a visiting student from France.

The Exploratorium is an amazing hands-on museum -- and a great place to lose grandkids!

(We did managed to find Jules on the rolling/rocking chair, ...)

... and Pasqual was on this rolling teeter-totter board.)

 FLIR

Leif and me in Infra Red.

(My glasses block the IR; my gold ring is reflective in IR and so doesn't emit IR.)

Tricks w/ mirrors:
see yourself coming and going.

Self-Centered Mirror

by Daniel Rozin, 2003

- Compare what happens here to your experience at Self-Excluding Mirror.

Courtesy Williams gallery and ICP-New York University

More tricks w/ mirrors.

Time to head home; walking past the Bay Bridge en route to the train station.

(And Cupid's arrow will keep your heart grounded in SF.)